

La sal de la vida

El porqué estamos hablando sobre diversidad.

Everything is a part of the whole.

The whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

It is not the individual parts that matter, but the way they are put together.

And it is not the parts themselves that matter, but the way they are put together.

It is not the individual parts that matter, but the way they are put together.

And it is not the parts themselves that matter, but the way they are put together.
