

Despite this depressing prognosis, all is not lost for Southern Africa. There are alternatives. We just need to know where to find them.

If poverty is Southern Africa's curse, biodiversity is its blessing. This it has in abundance. There are over 30,000 plant species in Southern Africa, encompassing eight

